

son, in cabinet meeting, saying: "Mr. President, this is the commander who saved us so much trouble in Mexican affairs." And the Executive of the nation thanked him.

That officer is now a rear-admiral on the retired list, enjoying the rest to which advancing age entitles him, after an active and honorable career.

Many years have elapsed since the sad ending of Emperor Napoleon's unfriendly enterprise. But it will always remain a subject of interest to Americans; and the memory of it may in the future help to nerve the hearts and hands of our statesmen in the improbable event of the Old World again attempting to guide the destinies of the New. The example set by the little "Tacony" is also well worthy of emulation by those whose duty and privilege it is to sustain the fair name of the United States Navy.

Uncle Sam's Medal of Honor. An account of some noble deeds for which it has been conferred in the United States. By THEO. F. RODENBOUGH, Bvt. Brigadier-General, U. S. A. Large 12mo, with 106 illustrations (portraits and battle-scenes) $2.00

The United States Medal of Honor was instituted by Congress in 1862, and is similar in character to the "Badge of Merit" instituted by Washington, the Victoria Cross, etc. It is the only authorized military decoration for valor in this country, and this volume has been planned to present some of the most stirring and dramatic incidents connected with the history of the medal.

The narratives are, in many cases, related by the actors.

Flags are captured, wounded comrades are rescued under deadly fire, and curious adventures on the frontier are related in a plain "camp-fire" fashion—principally by men in the ranks.

"Young America" will find this book a wholesome substitute for the dime novel, while "Our Veterans" can rely on the historical accuracy of the statements.

Recollections of a Private Soldier. A narrative by one who fought in the ranks through the long campaigns of the Army of the Potomac. By FRANK WILKESON. Uniform with EGGLESTON'S "A Rebel's Recollections." 16mo, cloth, $1.00

It is the idea of the writer that existing war narratives are too exclusively from the point of view of the commanders, and that some account of what was being said and thought by the men in the ranks will possess personal interest and historical value.

A Rebel's Recollections. By GEO. CARY EGGLESTON (late of the Confederate Army). Third edition. 16mo, cloth, $1.00

This volume makes a curious complement to that of Mr. Wilkeson, presenting a graphic picture of the way things looked to a private in the Army of Northern Virginia.

"The author deserves the thanks of all true Americans . . . His sketches are models of characterization."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Naval War of 1812; Or, THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES NAVY DURING THE LAST WAR WITH GREAT BRITAIN; to which is appended an account of the Battle of New Orleans. By THEODORE ROOSEVELT, author of "Hunting Trips of a Ranchman," etc. Third edition, octavo, $2.50

"The style is singularly concise, lucid, and forcible. The reader of Mr. Roosevelt's book unconsciously makes up his mind that he is reading history and not romance, and yet no romance could surpass it in interest, and it is certain to have a wide and permanent popularity."—Philadelphia Times.

A History of the Thirty Years' War. By ANTON GINDELY, Professor of German History in the University of Prague.
Translated by A. TEN BROOK. With twenty-eight illustrations and two maps. Two volumes octavo $4.00

"It is singular that the literature of history should have been obliged to wait two hundred years and more for a satisfactory account of that strange compound of political, religious, and military events known as the Thirty Years' War. And yet the explanation is not far to seek Until within the present century the secrets of the war were locked up in the archives of the states and the muniment rooms of the old German nobility. It is only very recently, therefore, that any thing like a genuine history has been possible and such a work has now been given to us by Prof. Gindely."—N. Y. Nation.

The Life and Campaigns of Frederick the Great. By Col. C. B. BRACKENBURY, of the British Army. 16mo, $1.00

"It is written in a very interesting style, and shows good judgment in the selection of materials, and a clear conception of the relation of Frederick to general history."—Nation.

Reminiscences of the "Filibuster" War in Nicaragua.
By Col. C. W. DOUBLEDAY. Octavo, cloth $1.25

"The story of his wild and stirring adventures in those petty but bloody struggles is told with singular simplicity and modesty. . . . Mr. Doubleday has written a book of rare and curious interest, and he presents his views on the canal question with a cogency that invites attentive consideration."—Chicago Times.
